

TO'HAJIILEE EARLY CHILDHOOD COORDINATED SERVICES

TO'HAJIILEE is a Navajo community located off interstate I-40, exit 131, approximately 40 miles west of Albuquerque.

Katrina Nez is the Early Childhood Coordinator at the To'Hajiilee Community School. She coordinates services for children with developmental delays birth through five and their families. She coordinates Child Find Screenings, provides parent trainings and parent education resources, conducts health fairs, offers family services to those in need and follows the child as they transition into kindergarten.

Each year during March, disabilities month, the Community Outreach Committee sponsors a collection of toys, clothing, hygiene supplies, diapers, formula and baby food for the infants and toddlers of To'Hajiilee. Throughout the year, the Quilters of All Saints provide handmade quilts for this group.

For the past two years, All Saints Lutheran Church of Albuquerque has provided donations to TECCS and our local early childhood programs. Donations include new/used infant and toddler clothing, diapers, wipes, hygiene products, new/used toys, and handmade baby quilts. Donations are distributed based on the needs of the family.

In March 2015, the church had put up a donation table to collect items mentioned above for our families in the community of To'Hajiilee. We, the early childhood programs, are thankful to have All Saints Lutheran Church provide such donations throughout the year (to include our early childhood toy drive).

Thanks All Saints Lutheran Church for continuous donations and being a wonderful community partnership!!!
